

Meeting Participants' and Reviewers' Organizations (Volumes I and II)

NOTE: This document was greatly enriched and informed by the diversity of view points expressed by the 33 participants who attended the November 1992 and May 1996 meetings, and by the many reviewers of subsequent drafts of the documents (most of the meeting participants also offered feedback by reviewing later drafts as well). The comments of the participants and reviewers were carefully catalogued, reconciled with current clinical and epidemiologic literature, and synthesized into the document. As with any endeavor involving such a large number of experts, unanimity on every point was impossible. Overall, the concepts of the original meeting participants, and the recommendations from all subsequent reviews, have been honored and are encompassed in this synthesis. A sincere effort was made to make the document reflect, as much as possible, the sense of all the meeting participants and the reviewers.

* All lists are in alphabetical order by organization, then by last name

 The Client-Provider Interaction, Contraceptive Effectiveness, and Cervical Cancer chapters and the CBS checklists and accompanying guide were also reviewed separately from Volume II. Thus, complete lists of reviewers for those sections are not included here.

The Secretariat of the Technical Guidance Working Group wishes to thank the Division of Family Health and the Special Programme of Research, Development and Research Training in Human Reproduction of the World Health Organization (WHO) for their review of this document; all of the recommendations made by WHO which are within the scope of this document have been made. The recommendations in this document are also consistent with the WHO's August 1994 draft of Medical Eligibility Criteria¹, which is the preliminary result of a WHO-led effort to update family planning medical eligibility criteria to reflect current clinical and epidemiologic knowledge.
